BULLETIN

Headlines

Dear Parent/Carers,

I would first like to say a huge thank you to the PTA for organising the Summer Fair last week. It was a great success and, thanks to our wonderful school community, we raised over £1,000! On top of this, a few of our children organised their own stalls to raise money for local charities. Well done to everyone involved.

To add to an already busy week, we have also had an exciting time in the allotment. This year, our allotment has been chosen as a 'showcase' for Rugby schools and was visited by the next tier of judges in the Heart of England competition. A huge well done to Mrs Vipond and the allotment team for all their hard work – we look forward to hearing the outcome from the judges. Thank you also to Mrs Stevens and the choir, who performed while the judges were visiting BJS.

Mrs Brown, our new Head of School, enjoyed spending time with us during the transition day. We both took part in a transition assembly so that she could be properly introduced to the children. You should also have received a letter from Mrs Brown, giving parents and carers the opportunity to find out a little more about her and her extensive experience of working in a junior school.

We have a very busy final week of term ahead, particularly for our Year 6 children. Just a reminder that the last day of term will be a non-school uniform day. It has been a little while since we last held a fundraising event to support our links with the orphans and vulnerable children in Chebukube, Kenya. Thank you for your continued kindness and support. Together, we can make a real difference to the lives of children and families in Kenya. Thanks to the generosity of the BJS community, previous fundraising efforts have helped provide children with access to education and have supported families by providing goats to strengthen their livelihoods.

I can't believe there is only one week left until the end of term. I am really looking forward to a fun-filled week of events, including the Year 6 production, our church service and, yes, even the Year 6 disco!

Have a great weekend.

Mrs Ross

Mental Health in Schools Team Tips For Wellness

Rest

It is important to work hard, stay motivated and set goals to achieve in life. It is also important to not overwork yourself and get enough rest to help manage your stress and unwind so you can stay motivated and prevent burnout in the long run.

Rest is vital for your mental health as it can improve your concentration, memory, critical thinking, planning for the future, problem-solving, mood, immune system, reduce stress, and helps your body's metabolism and physical recovery.

Rest can be difficult to define because it can look different for everyone. It can be anything physical or mentally stimulating that improves wellbeing such as going for a walk, singing, drawing, cycling, playing games, watching TV/streaming, exercising, playing sports, reading, dancing, listening or creating music, writing, crafting, relaxing or visiting else you enjoy!

Our Top Tips for Rest:

After you have done something important like studying, chores or homework, reward yourself by doing something enjoyable that helps you recharge.

Set aside enough time each day for hygiene. This can be showering, brushing teeth, washing hair. These regular activities can help you to relax.

Create a healthy sleep routine by avoiding caffeine or sugary drinks near bedtime, ensure you are warm and comfortable in bed and limit screentime.

Engage in some mindfulness or restful activity, such as meditation, reading, listening to calming music, podcasts or bedtime stories.

Use the QR code to download the Calm App, which has lots of meditations, soundscapes and stories.

In Coventry and Warwickshire, for any urgent mental health concerns, contact the RISE Crisis Helpline available 24/7, by calling NHS 111. Alternatively, call 999 or visit A&E in an emergency, for example if medical attention is required.

MHST are available to support you and your school throughout the school year including term time and school holidays.

Please contact your school's Mental Health Lead for information and advice.

What Parents & Educators Need to Know about GROUP CHATS

WHAT ARE THE TASKS?
On messaging apps, social media and online games, group chats are one of the most popular ways that children connect. Group chats allow messages, images and videos to be shared in one place and help friendships flourish; however, they also come with a number of risks.

TEASING AND BULLYING
Children of all ages are keen to be in social groups. Group chats can sometimes become a place where teasing and bullying can happen. Children can be teased or bullied in a group chat, which can be embarrassing and hurtful. Children can also be teased or bullied in a group chat, which can be embarrassing and hurtful.

INAPPROPRIATE CONTENT
Some group chats may include inappropriate language or images. Even if a child isn't actively participating in the conversation, they may still be exposed to this content simply by being part of the group. Some apps have reporting mechanisms, but it's not always easy to report inappropriate content, and a few parents, which makes it harder for children to report something they've seen.

EXCLUSION AND ISOLATION
Exclusion in group chats is common and can be very hurtful. Sometimes a new group is created and some children are left out. This can make children feel excluded and isolated. Children may also be excluded from a group chat, which can make them feel sad and lonely.

PEER PRESSURE
Children may feel they have to do something they are not comfortable with to fit in with their friends. They may be pressured to share photos or videos, or to use inappropriate language. Children may also be pressured to join a group chat, which can make them feel uncomfortable.

VIDEO AND LIVE CHATS
Some popular apps allow children to engage in live video chats. This can be a fun way to connect with friends, but it can also be a risk. Children may be exposed to inappropriate content, or they may be pressured to share photos or videos. Children may also be pressured to join a group chat, which can make them feel uncomfortable.

Advice for Parents & Educators

CONSIDER OTHERS' FEELINGS
Group chats can become a place where children can be teased or bullied. Parents and educators should consider how group chats can affect children's feelings and well-being. They should also consider how group chats can be used to spread rumors or to share inappropriate content.

SET SOME GROUP CHAT RULES
Parents and educators should set some rules for group chats. These rules should include things like: no sharing of inappropriate content, no teasing or bullying, and no sharing of personal information. Parents and educators should also make sure that children understand these rules and know how to report any problems.

BLOCK, REPORT AND LEAVE
If a child encounters inappropriate content or behavior in a group chat, they should block the person, report the content, and leave the chat. Parents and educators should make sure that children know how to do this and encourage them to do so if they need to.

SUPPORT, NOT JUDGEMENT
Group chats can be a great way for children to connect with their friends, but they can also be a place where children can be teased or bullied. Parents and educators should support their children and not judge them for being in a group chat. They should also make sure that children know how to report any problems.

PRACTISE SAFE SHARING
It's important for children to be aware of what they are sharing and how it might be used. They should not share personal information, such as their name, address, or phone number, in a group chat. They should also be careful about sharing photos or videos, as these can be used to tease or bully them.

SILENCE NOTIFICATIONS
Being bothered with notifications from a group chat can be an annoying distraction. Children can turn off notifications for group chats, which can help them to focus on their work or other activities. Parents and educators should make sure that children know how to do this and encourage them to do so if they need to.

FREE SCHOOL MEALS

Changes in Eligibility

There will now be two categories of free school meals depending on your financial circumstances:

Targeted free school meals for those getting Universal Credit with annual household earnings of £7,400 or less, or another qualifying benefit

Expanded free school meals for anyone getting Universal credit whose annual earnings are above £7,400.

Households in both categories will benefit from the financial savings of getting free school meals.

Households who fall into the targeted category will get access to the holiday activities and food (HAF) programme, providing a range of fun and free activities and healthy meals for children over the school holidays. Your child's school could also receive extra funding to support them.

Calm: a worry workshop for families

We are hosting several 'worry' focused workshops over the summer holidays for parents/carers to attend with their child(ren). These are activity based and expected to last between 90 mins to two hours. Please note, simple refreshments are provided but please bring drinks/snacks as required – there will be breaks!

This workshop will help you and your child understand what worries and anxiety are, and how they show up in thoughts, feelings and the body. We will explore a range of practical tools you can try together, such as breathing, grounding and helpful thinking. The session is interactive, with opportunities to take part in ways that feel comfortable for you.
